A Failure in Perspective.

The southern habit of giving family names as Christian names to girls as well as boys is very pretty and quaint, but it sometimes has its disadvantages. There was once a Mr. Rose, so the story runs, who wooed and won a Miss Wilde, and their little daughter bore the picturesque name of Wilde Rose. But when she grew to womanhood and giving her heart and hand to a youth by the name of Bud, became Wilde Bud, the combination was less pleasing.

A Sound Liver Makes a Well Man.

Any bilious, constipated or troubled with jaundice, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, foul breath, coated tongue, dyspepsia, indigestion, hot dry skin, pain in back and between the shoulders, chills and fever, etc. If you have any of these symptoms, your liver is out of order, and your blood is slowly being poisoned, because your blood does not act properly. 'Hersine' will cure any disorder of the liver, stomach or bowels. It has no equal as a liver medicine. Price 75 cents. Free trial bottle at R. C. Hardwick's drug store.

There are 2,888 different kinds of violetpeds.

If it required an annual outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by R. C. Hardwick.

The workman often eats his lunch on the same bench he does his work. The office man turns his desk into a dining-table. Neither gets out of doors exercise he needs, neither takes the proper time for eating. It is small wonder that the digestion of both gets out of order. In such cases Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come to their assistance by aiding nature in taking care of the food.

The cause of nine-tenths of the sickness of the world is constipation. From this one cause come indigestion; disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys; biliousness, headaches, flatulence, heartburn, impurity of the blood and the serious complications that follow. To begin with, constipation is a little thing, and a little thing will cure it. The "Pleasant Pellets" are tiny, sugar-coated granules. They will perfectly cure the worst case of constipation and indigestion. If the druggist try to sell you some other pill that pays him greater profit, just think of what will best pay you.

PAINTING A HOUSE.

Secrets of the Trade—Mrs. Strephon's Embarrassing Adventure.

When eight of the twelve houses in the row were to be painted, the landlord ("an irresponsible and impolite old fool," Mrs. Strephon called him) made a contract with a house painter to do the job. The landlord agreed to provide the body color, the painter to provide the trimmings. Now, undoubtedly the landlord thought he was saving much of what Mrs. Strephon said he had known—common sense; but when the job was over, there was not much more trimming among the eight houses than there is mustache among eight West Point cadets.

"A house without trimming," said Mrs. Strephon (she that was Phyllis), when she saw the light, "is house without trimming looks like a person with no eyebrows who has shaved his mustache and beard."

The master painter, to whom she made the remark, looked doubtful, but smiled weakly.

"Now, that last house," continued Mrs. Strephon; "what color or shade is that? It isn't elephant's breath, or frost grape purple, or any of those shades, I know; but I can't say what it is."

"Well'm," said the painter, "you see, that is a shade of my own. I painted the whole row, and I let over from the other seven houses an' put in a little of the trimmings to give it character, an' just slapped it on!" He looked at Mrs. Strephon hopefully.

"I see," replied that lady. "I see—it's a sort of self-trimmed color, isn't it?"

The painter coughed deprecatingly.

That's it exactly," he said.

Mrs. Strephon never told the occupants of the eighth house about this; she felt for them too much.

Now, those who have lived in the country and have had their houses painted will remember that the first thing the painters do is to remove all the blinds and stack them up over the new shrubs on the front lawn; the next thing they do is to paint the front steps, so that all the callers have to curse something; and that the last thing they do is to put the blinds back. So they did with the house that Strephon and Phyllis had. It was while the blinds were out that Mrs. Strephon had a bad quarter of an hour—only she said that it was nearly two hours. But that's as may be.

One afternoon, all the servants being on the lower floors, Mrs. Strephon prepared to make calls, and to make them properly prepared to array herself. Being in her petticoat, she ran into the next room and into the closet to get something. As she entered the closet she heard a noise at the window, but not until she started to return to her room did she learn what had caused the noise. The painters had moved along in their leisurely manner, and now in front of each of the three windows of the room one of them was perched, painting calmly and placidly.

Mrs. Strephon retired into the depths of the closet and wept with rage. When she felt better she looked out cautiously, but the men were still in front of the windows. She had made herself as comfortable as she could and wept, every now and then peering out to see if they had gone.

Finally Strephon came home, early.

"Phyllis!" he called, and a ray of hope entered her despairing breast.

"Here!" she cried in answer, but not very loudly, for she didn't want the painters to hear. They didn't—and neither did Strephon.

So Strephon, getting no answer, went out bicycling alone, and when he came back found a very quiet, dignified wife, who, however, dissolved into tears on slight provocation, and confided her woes to him.

"I hoped you'd come up stairs," she said, "but when you didn't, I felt like the prisoner of Chillon, or like Dr. Manette in the Bastille, or like that horrid man in Dante who ate his own children in prison—you know him; I've forgotten his name."

"Bernardo del Carpio," suggested Strephon.

Phyllis looked at him suspiciously, but continued:

"I don't know how long I waited. I think I must have fallen asleep. By and by I woke up and looked out; the painters had gone! Then I waited to 'verify' that, as you say, and then, when I thought they must really have gone, I just rushed in here and cried with joy. I felt like I don't know what—the Minister Mariner when he found himself on Robinson Crusoe's island, I guess."

"Strephon," concluded Phyllis, solemnly, "you won't let those people paint this house again for another eight years, will you?"—N. Y. Sun.

Disunion in the Church.

"I hear that Willis has withdrawn from membership in the church. What was the trouble?"

"He and the minister got into a row over whose was the best bicycle."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, DO YOU KNOW that Paragoric, Balsam of Capivi, Sassafras, many so-called soothing syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poison?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless your or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. J. C. Fitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Fitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

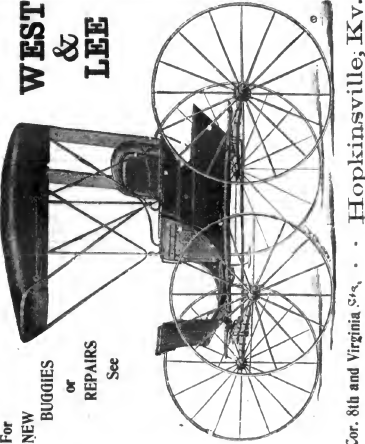

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

Ward authorized to announce
HON. MALCOLM YEAMAN,
of Henderson county, as candidate for APPELLATE JUDGE
in the First District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

DEMOCRATIC ELECTORAL TICKET.

State—Jas. P. Tarvin, Kenton.
at large—W. B. Smith, Madison.
First—J. C. W. Bransford, Davies.
Second—G. W. Bransford, Davies.
Third—Ed. B. Drake, Allen.
Fourth—Gus Brown, Breckinridge.
Fifth—Wallace McKay, Jefferson.
Sixth—Harvey Myers, Kenton.
Seventh—W. P. Kimball, Fayette.
Eighth—L. H. Carter, Anderson.
Ninth—W. G. Ramsey, Bath.
Tenth—T. J. Wells, Morgan.
Eleventh—Henry Bauchamp, Metcalfe.

The two First District candidates for Appellate Judge, Bishop of McCracken and White of Ballard, have long been political opponents and personal rivals. Each has about him a faction of partisan supporters and in many former races there has been more or less bitterness between them. This old feeling of unfriendliness is still disturbing the harmony of the party in the Purchase counties to such an extent that it would be unwise and risky to nominate the head of either faction as the candidate of the party for Appellate Judge, in a contest that may be unpleasantly close and more or less doubtful. Both have been chronic office-seekers and the ill feeling between them has grown in violence from year to year. Each of course has active enemies who leave nothing undone to pull down the political fortunes of the candidate whose defeat is desired.

One of the incidents of the present race is a circular issued by a man named Jackson, of Wickliffe, making a violent assault upon the integrity of Judge Jas. D. White. It contains grave and serious charges, one of which is that he personally guaranteed the title of a piece of land, knowing it to be defective, and acting on his advice his clients lost $13,000. The details of the transaction are set forth at length in the circular is being secretly circulated over the district. Judge Bishop's friends here deny that they are responsible for its circulation in this county, and there is no evidence to connect Judge Bishop with the affair. The man who fathers the charges is a stranger to Judge Yeaman, who has hastened to disclaim any connection with what appears to be a questionable piece of business, and it is clearly a move intended to benefit Judge Bishop. It shows a state of feeling in the district counties that bodes no good to the party should either Bishop or White secure the nomination.

We trust the people of this county at least will keep themselves aloof from the factional fights of the First District counties and support their neighbor candidate, Judge Yeaman, whose character and methods of campaigning are such as cannot fail to command themselves to the most favorable consideration of the people.

Florida, Arkansas, California and West Virginia will hold conventions this week and add 60 to the silver strength at Chicago. Next week Indiana, Illinois, North Carolina and Ohio will send solid delegations. The vote now stands 288 for silver and 220 for gold. The only gold States yet to act are Delaware, Maine, New York, possibly Wisconsin, with 114 votes. The gold standard people will therefore have 334 votes out of 922 in the convention, a little more than one-third.

Mr. L. P. Tanner, a young lawyer of Calhoun, has formally announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district. Mr. Tanner is a young man of considerable sprightliness, but he is not a very astute politician or he would not have entered a race that must necessarily be hopeless for him from the start. The people of the district are for Dr. Clardy.

Evansville went for silver Saturday and sent a solid delegation to the State convention on the 24th. Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Atlanta and Nashville are other large cities that have already declared for free coinage.

The Evening Post reports Zack Phelps, one of the Louisville delegates to Chicago, as saying that he will not be bound by the instructions of the Lexington convention to vote for Blackburn for President, and will vote as he pleases in spite of the unit rule instructions adopted by the State convention. It is well understood that the unit rule has no binding force if delegates choose to disregard it, but delegates who violate instructions generally "know what they are" as the schoolboys say.

The gold men controlled the Minnesota Democratic convention by a vote of 496 to 323. Considering the fact that Minnesota was claimed to be solid for gold, the silver men did pretty well. The delegation is divided.

The A. P. A. Lodge, of which Gov. Bradley is a member, has ordered his expulsion, because he appointed Jno. H. Whallen, a Roman Catholic, to a place on an honorary commission of some minor importance.

Seven of the eighteen delegates in Minnesota and three of the sixteen in Maryland are free coinage men and will so vote unless they are prevented from doing so by the unit rule.

Nervous

People often wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they start at every slight but sudden sound; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and nervous

Dyspepsia

The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood which is continually feeding the nerves upon refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. In such condition opiate and nerve compounds simply deaden and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich, red blood; gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, and the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

The reception given by Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Edmunds Friday evening

many pleasant features of the evening was the singing, which was indulged in served and all were highly entertain-present.

Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics
—Conditions June 1, 1900.

The report on crop conditions June 1 is made up from the replies received from 214 correspondents, representing 110 counties.

Special effort has been made to ascertain the true condition of the wheat crop on June 1, not only in Kentucky, but also in the principal winter wheat growing States. A full report from them would delay the issue of this bulletin longer than is desirable. We are, therefore, only able to give the condition in the States of Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Ohio. In Missouri the condition is 76, being a falling off of 7 points since May 1. In Ohio the condition is 49 as against 55 on May 1. In Iowa the condition is 96. In Kansas,
69. Both Missouri and Ohio report great damage from insects.

WHEAT.
In reviewing the condition of the wheat crop, it is necessary, on account of the unequal distribution of the rain during the months of April and May, to separate the western section of the State from the central and eastern portion. In the central and eastern portion there has been no rainfall from the first of April to about May 25, with the result that the average dropped from 74 on May 1
to 57 on June 1. In the western section many counties the crop is reported a failure. The general complaint is that the crop is heading low and is so thin on the ground that great difficulty will be experienced in harvesting
it. Complaints are also received of damage from Hessian fly in this section.

In those counties lying west of a line running north and south with the eastern boundary of Daviess county,
the rains have been more abundant and the crop is only prevented from making an average crop by the ravages of the chinch bug and Hessian fly. The late excessive rains is causing some apprehension of damage from rust. The condition in the twenty-two counties lying west of the above mentioned line is 50 per cent.
of a full crop.

Combining the two sections the average is 61, which is a falling off of 13 points during the month of May. In the Southern counties the crop is ready to harvest, which is being delayed by the wet weather.
The harvest period on an average is a week earlier in the State this season.

OOZE.
The corn crop is the only exception
to the general complaint of crops damaged by drought. An excellent stand was obtained and the crop, generally speaking, is in a very advanced stage for the season. In the central and eastern portions of the State the crop has made steady growth during the drouth, while in the absence of the usual wet weather interference with work the crop has received the usual good cultivation up to the beginning of the rains. Since that time it is beginning to show the need of work.

In the Western counties where the rainfall has been more bountiful during April and May, the late excessive rains have put the crop in bad condition as regards cultivation. Many correspondents report the fields as being overrun with grass and weeds. It is also being partly damaged in lowlands by overflow.

Reports still show an unusual large per cent. of 1900 crop still in farmer's hands. The condition over the State averages 93.

OATS.
The condition of the oat crop
shows marked effect of the drouth.
Many counties report the crop a failure throughout, while in others the rains during the latter part of May are reported as having a wonderful effect in reviving the prospect, especially in the latter-sown portion being benefitted. In the Western counties
the crop is in a normal condition.
The condition over the State averages 69.

TObACCO.
The last ten days of May might be termed a continuous tobacco season.

A smart Broadway, New York, druggist has
this sign hanging outside his store; it marks the new era of drug selling.
Is it any wonder that he has to enlarge his quarters, that his clerks are busy, and that his store is one of the most popular
along the leading thoroughfare?
You can afford to trade
with a druggist who gives
you SCOTT'S EMULSION
when you ask for it.

with the result that a larger percentage of the crop was set prior to June 1 than ever before in the history of the tobacco-growing industry in the State. The reports show that on average over the State 83 per cent.
of the crop has been set. The stand is excellent except in the low lands,
where the plants are reported as drowned from overflow. The tobacco fields are in common with the corn fields suffering from want of cultivation and from overflow in the bottoms.
The acreage as compared with an average year is 82. As compared with 1895 the acreage is 92.

RAPE.
The hemp-growing section lies wholly in that portion of the State
where the drouth was severest.
The effect on the crop is plainly shown in the general average for condition, which is 72.

The acreage, which was estimated at 105 on May 1 has been reduced by late-sown crops pending. This decrease has been repaired to some extent by re-sowing.

MEADOWS.
The condition of meadows is very generally poor. The drouth, commencing as it did with the beginning of spring, has permitted little growth
to be made until the time is passed for repairing the loss. Some correspondents report good clover meadow but no report of good condition of timothy is received. In the Western counties, the army is reported as destroying any prospect that might have existed. Correspondents, however, report the late rains as having a re-juvenating effect, but it is not probable the improvement will result in more than making good pastures of the meadows. The condition over the State averages 61.

PASTURES.
Pastures were never shorter at this season of the year. Many reports of the bluegrass being killed by the drouth are received, while the damage to young grass from seed sown in spring, is enormous. The condition averages 70 for the State, and the condition of young grass is 62.

Wool and wool.
Correspondents very generally report a reduction in the number of sheep. The wool clipped, as compared with an average year, is 83; as compared with 1899 the per cent. is 84. The price of wool over the State averages 12 1/2 cents per pound.

HOES.
The percentage of hogs being fattered for market, as compared with an average year, is 80. Number of correspondents reporting the presence of hog cholera is larger than usual. 114 correspondents, representing 74 counties, report cholera,
while 69, representing 61 counties,
answer the question negatively.

FRUIT
Fruit has not escaped the effects of the drouth. While the condition of peaches and grapes still remains excellent, apples are reported as drooping, presumably from the effects of the dry weather, until from many sections
the apple crop is reported a failure.
The most sanguine correspondent does not estimate the apple crop at over 50 per cent. The blackberry crop is generally reported the finest in years.

STORMS AND RAINS.
The month of May has been a memorable period on account of the vic-tious storms of wind, rain and hail.
Kentucky while escaping a great measure the lamentable losses of life that has befallen many States, has suffered no inconsiderable pecuniary loss by reason of damage to crops and property. The counties of bal-land, Marshall, Caldwell, Crittenden, McCracken, Webster, Todd, Logan,
Clinton, Ohio, Franklin, Owen, Pendleton, Mason and Harland report great damage to crops and soil from severe storms of wind and rains.

Ice Cream Supper at Pembroke.
The ladies of the Pembroke vicinity will give an ice cream supper at the Baptist Parsonage in that place next Thursday evening, June 18, for the benefit of the Pembroke cemetery,
which is badly in need of repairs.
Everybody is cordially invited to attend, and as the proceeds are to be appropriated to a worthy cause they should be greeted by a large crowd of patrons.

Card of Thanks.
We take this opportunity to thank our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and assistance
during the long illness of our daughter, MRS. who died last week.

BREVITIES OF FUN.

—“Mr. Rodger, when is a woman in the prime of life?” “Well, Mrs. Rodger, when she's 30.” “And a man?” “Oh, anywhere from 21 to 30.”—Chicago Record.

—“Foot Positive.”—“How do you know, daughter, that young Tyson does not drink?” “Because, papa, his breath always smells of fresh cloves.”—Detroit Free Press.

—“This is so sudden,” said Eve. “I do not want you to think me mercenary, but what are your financial prospects?” Adam drew himself up a little and said with the quietness of true greatness: “I own the earth.” The rest is history.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

—That was a bright answer given by a little girl in a suburban school to the question of her teacher as to what people find, even in warm countries, when they get to the top of the mountain. “Most people find,” said the child, “that they are out of breath.”—Boston Transcript.

—Mr. Wickwire—“I saw a woman pass a big mirror in a show window without looking in.” Mrs. Wickwire—“I suppose you are going to be funny now, and tell me that she was blind.” “Nope. She was looking across the street at another woman with a new hat.”—Indianapolis Journal.

—“This present warm spell,” began the oldest inhabitant—“Yes, I know,” interrupted a gruff bystander. “It reminds you of a still warmer one a hundred years ago.” “No,” continued the oldest inhabitant, coolly. “It is the worst I have ever experienced for this season of the year.”—Philadelphia North American.

—“Some men have been circulating falsehoods about me,” said the public official, indignantly. “What do they say?” his wife inquired. “That I have made a great deal of money since my election.” “Do you think it will hurt you?” “I don't say it would. Every one of my creditors has written me a letter on the strength of the rumor.”—Washington Star.

STREPHON'S WEDDING COAT. Showing the Punishment and Foreordained Fate of P.

Now, Strephon has always prided himself on his figure. Mrs. Strephon (Phyllis as his wife) says he has the only figure in his family.

“Your brother's figures,” she said, contemptuously, “well, they're lost, they're only gone before. But you—with broader shoulders and chest, and narrower waist—you'd have a first-rate figure—a really first-rate figure, you know.”

So for a long time Strephon exercised over his brothers. Strephon said: “I've been married eight years,” he was wont to say, “and I can still wear my wedding coat; that's proof that I'm not getting fat.”

But his pride had its fall. One afternoon Phyllis met him when he came home with a determined look. “What does this mean?” she demanded, waving a bill before his eyes.

He looked; it was receipted. “What's the matter? The bill's paid,” he said. “Read it,” ordered Phyllis. It was for a black coat and “vest” and light trousers, and was a year old. Strephon's eyes met Phyllis' and sank before them. At length Strephon spoke.

“I've been married eight years,” he said, “but I have not had on a wedding garment. Still, I've kept my figure.” With a glance at him in reply.

“Now, if that is not my wedding coat,” said Strephon, “where is my wedding coat?” Phyllis blushed.

“I think I must have given it away,” she said, timidly.

Oldest House in the Country. Dr. Carver, of St. Augustine, Fla., is said to live in the oldest house in the United States. The house was built in 1562, and was occupied by Spanish monks before St. Augustine was founded. In the house Dr. Carver has surrounded himself with a collection of antiquities connected with the history of Florida and the Spaniards, which once ruled it, that is of itself a veritable museum.

Dr. Carver's collection of curiosities contains relics connected with the first Spanish settlers that date back into Moorish history 1,000 years ago. And, by way of proving that there is nothing new under the sun, the famous nickel-in-the-slot machine has a progenitor in Dr. Carver's collection. It is a slot machine used by the Spaniards of this century to deliver packages of tobacco by dropping an old-fashioned big copper in the slot.—Louisville Free Press.

The Bears' Mania. Every telegraph pole in the remote districts of Norway has been continually watched on account of the bears, which have a mania for climbing the poles and sitting on the crossbeams, swaying backward and forward until the pole finally falls.

HUNTING WILD HOGS.

How the Sport is Conducted in Louisiana Canbrakes.

Down in Louisiana the hunting of wild hogs is not as exciting as the hunt of the Black forest of Germany. In the latter country the sport is attended with considerable danger to the sportsman; in Louisiana all the hunter needs to do is to sit on the fence and watch the dogs as they attend to the business. In Catahoula county is a peculiar breed of canine known as the hog dog. Their ancestors herded and hunted wild hogs many years ago, and so strongly has the instinct been developed that the present strain needs no training whatever. They take as naturally to “rounding up” wild hogs as a spaniel to water.

The wild hog of the Louisiana canbrake is an animal to be shunned by everyone not clad in steel armor. He is as fierce as the mountain lion and absolutely tireless in a fight; very aggressive, and needs only a hint to arouse his fighting temper. Louisiana hunters treat the wild hog with great respect until he is securely trapped. Then they shoot and eat him. In the thick woods of Catahoula county are large herds of these wild razor-back hogs. To hunt them, even when armed with a rifle, is an unpleasantly dangerous sport. A good marksman might easily kill one wild hog, but if charged by a drove, the top of the nearest tree would be the safest retreat for him. At the same time, the flesh of the wild hog is very good—if there is no wild turkey—and so this is the way the shrewd Louisiana planters secure their quarry.

The trained hog dog, at a signal of his master, goes scurrying off in the woods much as a sheep dog goes after a flock of lambs. The dog bays about, barking and yelping furiously. Wild hogs object to the society of dogs, and so before long a herd of wild hogs is rounded up prepared to argue the question. The dog, still barking loudly, pretends to run furiously at the hogs. He is trained to do that. When a few yards away he turns and retreats.

The hogs accept the challenge and give chase. On the outskirts of the woods a large pen is built, with one gate. If the dog is a good one—and all hog dogs are said by Louisiana hunters to be good—he has no trouble in leading the infuriated razor-backs directly to this corral. The dog dashes into the corral, the hogs follow with rage and anger, following closely behind. Once within the bars the dog jumps over the high fence, while the hunter, who has been sitting patiently all this time on the fence, jumps down, flails the gate and the wild hogs are prisoners. They cannot jump the fence, which is the only restraint that baffles an agile razor-back.

Wild hogs are very dangerous when wounded. They are very hunters being killed by a herd have not been infrequent. The hogs have very long fangs, which they use as fiercely as the incisors of a tiger. It is said that wild hogs will eat human flesh with great relish, and once they have tasted it their appetite for it is insatiable as a man-eating tiger.—Chicago Chronicle.

The World's Telegraph Wires.

The total length of telegraph lines in the world is 1,062,700 miles, of which America has 545,000 miles; Europe, 380,700; Asia, 67,400; Africa, 21,500; and Australia, 47,000 miles. The United States has a greater length than any other country, 403,500 miles, and Russia comes next, although European Russia has only 81,000 miles. The other countries follow in this order: Germany, France, Austria-Hungary, Britain, India, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Canada, Italy, Turkey, and Argentine Republic, Spain and Chili.

In point of proportion, however, Belgium leads with 400 miles of wire for every 1,000 square miles of territory; Germany comes next, with 250 miles; Holland is only slightly behind Germany; and the United Kingdom has 230 miles of telegraph for every 1,000 miles of country.

Only Eight Hours' Lat.

Auxiliary railroad lines in Germany are incredibly slow. But the following will show once more that truth is stranger than fiction: The trains on one of these side lines running from Neureuphrat to Fehrbellin, Prussia, bears the nickname “Stille Post” in this train the other way made the whole trip without the passenger cars, which, according to schedule, formed part of it. One of the car-couplers had uncoupled the passenger cars at the station, and by an oversight they had not been coupled again. The engineer started off and took the train to the end station, never discovering his mistake until after his arrival there. Then he ran back to the first station and brought the passengers. It made a difference of eight hours.

An Indication.

“Are they contemplating wedlock?” “I think so. He gave her a gold bracelet with a padlock and he carries the key.”—Detroit Free Press.
